

Tracie and Rein In Cancer:

Now that my life has returned to semi normalcy, I wanted to write to thank you for the generous check from Rein in Cancer and your support during my cancer treatment. The information you showed me how to access online about breast cancer was by far the best material I received during the period I had to make many difficult choices about my cancer treatment. It provided me with the resources I needed to be able to ask the right questions to explore all the options I had. When you have cancer, quality information is perhaps the most important and valuable thing you need. Thank you Tracie for providing several important resources to me—the financial support, the cancer information, and the emotional support. Your work with Rein In Cancer is a shining light in the dark world of cancer. Thanks for making it brighter for me!
